

Support the Shishmaref Village Relocation Project

The success of the proposed Shishmaref Village Relocation Project will depend upon strong financial support from public and private contributors' right here in Alaska, the rest of the USA and the International community— supporters like you. The Shishmaref Erosion and Relocation Coalition (Coalition) in cooperation of the Native Village of Shishmaref (IRA Council) has created this web site to provide information on our relocation project and to help raise funds for the relocation of our community and the hope that you can help our community by making a donation to help save our people and our unique traditional cultural life style we have enjoyed for the past 4,000 years. Funding from both the State of Alaska and the federal government has been limited since the decision of the community to move in 2002 onto a safe site on the mainland-Tin Creek and has not been sufficient for the relocation project.

How do we spend your dollars? The vast majority of our expenses are used in telling the story of our need for the relocation of our community such as developing this web site, lobbying efforts, travel to State and federal hearings on the impacts of global warming and climate change to our community. With your support, we plan to create a local coordination office here in Shishmaref to ensure that local needs are addressed in the interim and future relocation of the community. Plus, we have engineering public infrastructure needs at the relocation site that requires lots of planning to ensure that the new community be as self sustainable as technology can allow utilizing new technological development and natural resources available to us today matching the communities use of its' natural resources. We plan to set aside a portion to be used as grant matching requirement of the community to get additional financial support. We anticipate using less then 10% of donations for the administrative costs of the relocation project. We're happy that you have chosen to help our community— Quayana (Thank you)
